Thalian Culture Club Foundation Auction Set for August 19
Local Fundraiser to Support Commerce Charities

COMMERCE, TEXAS (July 7, 2016) – The Thalian Culture Club Foundation is hosting its annual fundraiser – a silent and live auction – on Saturday, August 19, 2017 at 6:00 pm at Sand Hills Country Club in Campbell. The annual event is the organization’s only fundraiser of the year, and supports numerous local charitable efforts, as well as provides scholarship opportunities for eligible seniors from Commerce High School. This year’s theme is “Vintage with a Twist” and guests will enjoy a festive, vintage-themed evening, complete with delicious refreshments.

Some of the local charities supported by the Foundation include the Northeast Texas Children’s Museum, Scholarships and School Supplies for Commerce ISD students, Commerce Schools Educational Enrichment Foundation, Commerce Lil’ Angels, Commerce Literacy Project, Commerce Public Library, Parks and Recreation, and funding for Christmas decorations on the downtown square.

“We invite our community to our fundraiser to not only enjoy food, festivities and fellowship, but to help us raise funds that we donate one-hundred-percent back into our community. The auctions are a fun away to support the organization while getting something in return,” said Trish King, Thalian president. The event is free and open to the public.

“In the past items for auction have included garden furniture, sports memorabilia, home accessories, children’s and baby items, floral arrangements, and artwork. It is a fun evening of joining together with friends and neighbors, while raising funds to better our community,” she added. Checks and cash will be accepted forms of payment for auction winning bids, and all checks will not be deposited until September 1, 2017.
